A BODY was recovered from Hillsboro Canal Monday morning after being spotted by Bruce Walker, an employee of Kirchman Oil. Belle Glade Police were still investigating how William Charles Nero, 63, of 324

S.W. Sixth St., Apt. 15 wound up in the canal. Detective Dan Crist said Nero was last seen between 2 and 3 p.m. He said an autopsy was scheduled for today by the medical examiner.

New garbage, trash system eyed

BELLE GLADE -- A tentative go-ahead was given by the City Commission for an experiment with a new type of semi-automated curbside garbage and trash collection system which could save the city $28,000 a year.

The system involves 85-gallon plastic carts and hydraulic lifts, such as the system used in Pahokee, but stops short of the remote-operated lift system operated by the truck driver.

City Manager Robert Sanders told the commissioners, during a workshop session, the experiment would cost approximately $2,600 for a one month tryout, using one truck to handle 900 accounts. The city has approximately 4,000 residential pickups now. Sanitation Supervisor Roy Polling said.

Polling said the system, if it is adopted, would result in a savings of more than $28,000 a year in labor alone and would knock out one of the city's crews.

Peter Myers, owner of Southeast Equipment Co. of Bawku, who represents Rubbermaid, the makers of the carts, said the system was put into use in Fort Lauderdale five years ago and is also in use in several other cities in the Southeast United States.

He told the commissioners the lowest acceptance level recorded so far was in Macon, Ga., where a survey following the introduction of the carts indicated 85 percent of the homeowners said they would rather see the curbside pickup with the carts than retain the backyard pickup service they had been using.

The carts are mounted on wheels and have hinged lids. Myers said the carts are almost impossible for a dog to knock over and a new design cuts down the possibility they would be blown over by wind. He said a bonus is added because the carts are large enough to contain most yard trash which is usually handled separately by different crews. Polling said the savings on trash pickups haven't been figured out yet.

Myers said still another savings was an 85 percent savings in Fort Lauderdale because of the cutdown on insurance payments. He said

Produce trucks to be barred in southwest?

BELLE GLADE -- An ordinance prohibiting the movement of loaded produce trucks through the streets of Southwest Belle Glade was passed Monday night by members of the Mayor's Advisory Committee.

Committee member Frank Teets moved to recommend the ordinance after a letter from City Public Safety Director Charles Goodlett was read, saying the ordinance would be the only solution he could suggest.

The ordinance, if passed by the city commission, would stop the loaded trucks from using Southwest Fifth and Sixth Streets from Avenue A to Southwest Avenue E from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The truck traffic, and how to stop it, has been discussed by the Mayor's Advisory Committee for the past several meetings and Teets has been particularly vocal in saying there is no reason for the loaded trucks moving through the crowded residential area.

Goodlett, in the letter, said the ordinance could bring an outcry from the growers. He suggested as an alternative a personal appeal to the growers and packers to keep the trucks out of the area but said he doubted it would be effective.

The committee also discussed the possibility of having homemade signs posted from city rights of way. Teets said he thought the signs detract from the community.

The only other business conducted by the committee was to hear a report from City Manager Robert R. Sanders on the city's recreational program.

After outlining a number of new activities by the City Recreational Department, Sanders went into the controversial use of the Lake Shore and Airport park areas for four softball fields rather than baseball parks.

He said the city is pursuing alternative methods to find a baseball field, however, saying one possibility would be to use the little league field for the project.

Part of the area, immediately behind the city's sewer treatment plant, is leased by the Jaycees but Sanders said the Jaycees are now defunct, and in that case, the field reverts back to the city.

School story causes flap, involvement

BELLE GLADE -- Students, teachers and area administrators took part in a faculty meeting, a student assembly was called in the Glades Central gym and a local church promised more parental involvement in a flap caused by dual articles on education in last week's Belle Glade Herald.

Dr. Effie Grear, principal of the local high school, described the situation last Thursday and Friday as "tense" following the release of articles quoting Glades Central instructor Sam Lovell, Palm Beach County School Superintendent Dr. Joseph Carroll and West Are Superintendent of Education H.W. "Dick" Berryman.

The articles delved into the recent scores of Glades Central students, and students throughout the county on the Adult Performance Level test and students state-wide in the Functional Literacy test.

Dr. Grear said she first heard about the articles when a parent called her at midnight last Wednesday to ask if she's read them. After that, she said she received so many calls Thursday she was unable to complete much of her routine work.

She said she felt the articles hurt the students' self image. She went on to say she realized some of the articles' information was true but would question other information until she was able to confirm it.

Student reaction may have been typified by Juan Pyfrom, son of GCHS band director Willie Pyfrom, when he said during the faculty meeting Monday in the school cafeteria that the articles constituted a "slap in the face" to teachers who don't share Lovell's opinions.

Lamont Scott, one of Lovell's students, said he didn't feel any teacher, "should be going around saying these things. You should be here to help us. I'm talking primarily to you, Mr. Lovell."

In answer, Lovell said he has never said all Glades Central students are bad.

"My own son graduated from this school," he said. "You don't have to listen to what I have to say. Listen to what the people of the community who are going to hire you have to say. This school, this town, is my bread and butter. I'm going to be here and I want to help the school."

"For the most part," he went on, "the news story was accurate but you can read anything into it you want to."

Berryman said he believed the articles were the result of a free press reporting things said by an activist interested in good education."

Berryman went on to say he believes Glades Central has many more pluses than minuses but said educators had made some objective errors which are showing up in literacy tests across the nation.

He said Florida is one of 37 states which have begun administering minimum competency examinations to students before graduating them from high school.

Dr. Grear said she had heard from a number of parents who were interested in seeing their children had the right to say what they wanted to say, "in the way it should be said."

One parent said she felt the parents must also accept a share of any guilt because parents need to know what the students are learning and what they aren't learning.

In the meantime, the Rev. Camel, pastor of Mt. Calvary Baptist Church, said he and his congregation are organizing to promote parental involvement at the local schools.

"We're just getting in and participating," Rev. Camel said, "because people gather at the church and we want to do what's necessary as parents. It's no more than what the PTA use to do. We're trying to keep the children in the right attitude."

POLICE CHIEF D. Bill Mathis is presented the Liberty Bell Award by County Judge

Don T. Adams during a ceremony conducted Wednesday in Judge Adams' court.

Mathis receives Liberty Bell

BELLE GLADE -- Police Chief Delano Bill Mathis was presented the Liberty Bell Award Wednesday by County Judge Don Adams as part of the 1978 Law Day activities.

The award was one of four given in Palm Beach County to non-attorneys for their contributions to the judicial process and law enforcement. Retiring Capt. Claude Tindall, now a city commissioner, won the award last year, the first Glades resident to receive the award.

He is a 1957 graduate of the New York Institute of Photography and graduated from the 78th session of the FBI National Academy in 1966. He is on the teaching staff of Palm Beach Junior College, from which he graduated, teaching criminology.

Mathis is a member of BPOE Lodge #1716, Masonic Lodge 273 and is a member and past resident of the Belle Glade Lions Club.

Mathis was born in Georgiana, Ala., and moved to Belle Glade in 1939. He attended Belle Glade schools and Palm Beach Junior College.

His wife, Louise, who is secretary to the President of Ever-Glades Federal Savings and Loan Association, and he have two sons, Pamela Ann, 17, and Richard Alan, 15. They reside at 34 N.E. Ave. 15.

Regular readers of this column are aware of my dissatisfaction with the judicial system...how cases are postponed at the whim of judges and lawyers, how charges are dropped on the least breach of the law's complex technical language, how convicted criminals receive little or no punishment, and how judges quite often use their powers to interpret and sometimes change the meaning of the law.

Well, it's happened again. And not way off in California or New York. It's happened right here in Palm Beach County.

U.S. Magistrate Patricia Kyle ordered last week that charges be dropped against 12 men who were being held for conspiracy to import 57½ tons of marijuana into this country.

The people were arrested by the Coast Guard 70 miles off our shores in a "mother ship" after that agency had stopped a fishing vessel that didn't appear to be rigged for fishing. This boat had a tank of gas and was out of an East Coast port, but the man on board had in their possession codes and other material which allowed the Coast Guard to intercept and purchase marijuana from the mother ship.

Magistrate Kyle said no evidence existed that the crew of the ship was involved in a conspiracy to import the pot. But if this is true, then what was that "fishing" boat doing out of a coast port?

And since there was "no conspiracy" she dropped the charges.

Special agent of the Drug Enforcement Administration Ray Magno, stationed in West Palm, said the ruling will be appealed but if it stands there will be virtually no way to prosecute major drug smugglers.

And the ruling brings on still more. What about all the other large ships that have been halted and boarded outside the 12-mile limit?

Then about the drugs themselves...that 57½ ton load of marijuana. If the arrest was illegal and the material seized outside U.S. waters, does the Coast Guard have to turn that grass back over to the motor ship and allow them to sail away?

Mango noted that if this ruling stands, the DEA's enforcement efforts will be limited to apprehending them after they go inside of the 12-mile limit. "This is tantamount to granting immunity to the drug smugglers," he says.

Magistrate Kyle's ruling is just the type of senseless, left-field thinking that is making it more profitable to ignore the law than to obey it.

The ruling will serve, if it stands, to declare the coast of Florida "open grounds" to drug smugglers and the estimated ten to twenty percent increase in the flow will fall to almost nothing.

There are many who feel marijuana should be made legal. But the fact is, it's not legal now for people to possess or use it. That's the law and until it is changed, it should be enforced.

But it can't be enforced with the type of thinking on the benches of justice.

I read an interesting story the other day in a magazine about the swordfishing craze off the Florida coast. And one sentence in that story really struck home.

"About the only thing more popular than swordfishing off the Florida coast right now," it said, "is drug smuggling."

I guess he was right. And if it keeps up, the poor swordfishermen will be hard put to drift upon the sea after dark in search of their quarry without being run down by boats heading for shore with their catch.

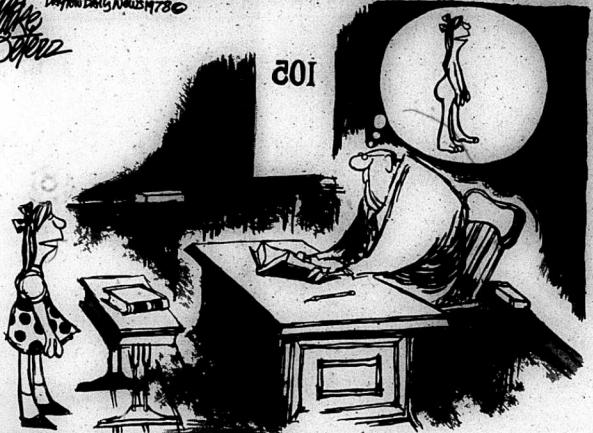

Our law enforcement agencies constantly come into contact with the ruling of the court and these rulings ever force them into even more narrow fields of operation.

Smoking pot may be a "victimless" crime like prostitution and gambling. But it's against the law and the way the laws are now being interpreted they are becoming increasingly useless as tools of society.

Society has the right to protect itself by establishing a code of law. Judges have no right to take it upon themselves to invalidate those laws.

DAVY DAVIS, APRIL 1978

MY MOTHER FEELS MUCH SAFER NOW THAT WE'VE KICKED OUT THOSE GAY TEACHERS...

Don't condemn messengers

News stories in last week's Belle Glade Herald stirred a great deal of controversy in local public schools.

This paper reported on two programs given to the Rotary Club, one by local teacher Sam Lovell and the other by Dr. Joseph Carroll and Dick Berryman of the school system.

Lovell pointed out that in his opinion, students graduating from public schools aren't sufficiently educated. He blamed social promotions and a lowering of standards to the lowest common denominator as reasons for this lack of good education and pointed out how business suffers because of it.

Lovell said some high school students are using coloring books to learn to count to ten and stressed that alternate paths of education should be explored, such as vocational courses for those in academic fields who are having trouble.

"The other side" of the story was a report by Dr. Carroll and Berryman to the Rotarians. Dr. Carroll said students in Glades schools are no better or no worse than students in other county schools, pointing out the pass-fail percentages of the Functional Literacy Test, which is administered state-wide and required for a high school diploma, were about the same in the Glades and on the Coast.

Dr. Carroll noted black students have a much higher failure rate, not because they can't learn but because the integration of two "separate school districts" has meant they've got a lot of catching up to do.

Unfortunately, black students and others in the community have taken these discussions out of context. We feel both Lovell and the two administrators were discussing the educational system as a whole, not any difference in black or white learning or educational performance.

Both Rotary programs pointed out the problems of public education not only in Palm Beach County, but statewide. This discussion is vital if progress is to be made.

Black leaders within the community have pointed out some facts that also need airing. One of the most important is, "What is the incentive for a black student to learn?" This particular black leader said blacks must leave Belle Glade if they are to find management positions in business and industry, no matter how well educated they may be.

Unfortunately, this is also true about white students. They too, are leaving Belle Glade to seek jobs. This problem is community-wide and not entirely racial.

One thing both Lovell and Dr. Carroll agreed upon was the need for one performance standard for all students. As Dr. Carroll said, "we have only one performance level and all students are expected to meet it."

Both also agree that it makes no difference if a student is black or white, each is equally capable of learning, given the same background.

What is unfortunate is that our present crop of students don't have the same educational background. Once the integration of schools began in the '50s and accelerated in the '60s, all too many educators adopted the attitude black students were underprivileged and disadvantaged in their home life and therefore weren't capable of maintaining the standards of white students.

As Lovell said later, he has never said black students can't learn. On the contrary, he has said they can learn and should be expected to maintain the uni-standard level stressed by Dr. Carroll.

If a child doesn't learn what he needs to know in the first, second, and third grades, he is handicapped throughout the rest of the educational process.

Our local black leader agreed, saying this was the reason many blacks do not like the Functional Literacy Test. "The test should not have been administered until the same standards had been applied to both blacks and whites through their junior year in high school," was the argument.

Other factors, such as discipline, student and teacher morale, social promotion, and many others also enter the educational picture.

But the facts remain the same. Johnny can't read. And he can't function in everyday mathematics. This discussion is not a black-white issue. It's an issue that vitally affects students in the Glades and elsewhere.

Don't blame Sam Lovell for bringing the facts to light; and don't blame Dr. Carroll or Dick Berryman either. They're only messengers. They didn't create the situation and they shouldn't be punished for exposing it so we as a community can see what the problems are and hopefully find some way of correcting that problem.

For once the issue is in the open. It needs to be discussed and the community needs to be not only aware of the problems, but also concerned about what can be done to solve them.

We commend these three men for having the courage to step forward and offer the frank discussion that has started the ball rolling within the community as well as the school system.

Maybe now something will be done.

West Tech

Construction on the West Technical Education Center is expected to begin in June. It will be located at SR 15 and Hooker Highway.

A committee composed of area businesspersons, educators and various other specialists from several geographic areas have met regularly to develop plans for the vocational education center.

Input from these various specialists, the planners feel, will provide a more expertly designed and functionally usable building. The efforts of these people will finally come into physical form when work begins in June. A total cost of $5.8 million will erect the structure.

The Glades area is a prime location for a vocational center due to large agricultural interests desiring trained machinists and other technical workers. Not to be overlooked however, are the other fields of study ranging from nursing to air conditioning/refrigeration repair.

The center has been well-supported by West area residents. We are glad to know the planning stages are now progressing to the construction stage.

Interest, cooperation and involvement is making the post-high school center possible. That's a lesson to be learned in all high-hope endeavors.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Mr. Lampton:
I read and enjoyed your column "Cornerstones" of March 16. I appreciate your wrestling with a difficult question about our representative form of government.

It's true that a senator's mail count, phone calls, or contact from special interest groups doesn't always give an accurate picture of constituents' feelings. Beyond that, I believe there are certain major issues on which a senator is expected to make up his own mind and reach the best judgement he possibly can.

You might be interested to know that I am making plans now to be in Pahokee on May 29.

Again, I appreciate your comments and insights.

Most cordially,
Richard (Dick) Stone

CRACKER CRUMBS

BY DEAN JONES

Y'ever have one of those flaky days when it seems like nothing you do makes sense but you get the giggles over everything that's said or done and nobody else appreciates it worth a darn? Well, it was that kind of a week. Like, for instance, the resolution passed unanimously by a couple of people here at that time that the opinions expressed on the other side of the page aren't necessarily those of the entire staff.

Heck, the opinions expressed on this side of the page not only aren't necessarily those of the entire staff, I'm likely to get arguments from every manjack and womanjack here.

Who ever heard of the U.S. Government sending agents outside the territorial waters of the United States (I've been taking Spanish lately, so how about that Neal?), not to mention within the limits of another country?

Besides, in the changing society we're living in nowadays, who wants to be carried with the brain of being opposed to something? I mean there are more than a few people out there who are cherishing the lady judge about now and they might have some thoughts about what could be done with the contraband if that hadn't already been decided in the Pahokee inquisition.

All kidding. One of the problems today is that all too many people don't really want to be opposed to something.

Not Deby Altman. Notice that picture last week of her letting the city commission know how she felt it was just about quitting time? Now, that was something I could get behind.

I always have maintained the soporific effects of droning sounds and warm zephyr breezes coming from the commissioners' general vicinity are something not to be taken lightly.

The effects are easily seen in the rapidly declining number of people in the audience as the night wears on.

But a new force entered the arena last week when Hizzoner's wife decided to take things in hand and announce she and Ace were ready to hit the road and reinforcements came when Bob Sanders announced Cecil was giving the commissioners just ten more minutes before the lights were turned out and the fountain was being turned off.

That would have gotten a definite cheer from the press table but Cheryl and I were the only ones left by then (I said the rate of attrition was atrocious) and we were just too blamed tired.

Besides, we kept wondering if we were going to be turned into the guinea pigs if Ace kept the post the witching hour.

Deby had enough energy though, to do a song-and-dance number when Tom finally gavelled the meeting to a close. Well done, Deby and now to follow that act.

It looks like, by the way, I might've created a monster when we took time back when we were talking about possible names for the future heir of the Altman fortune.

Figuring Tom might think about naming his son after some worthy organization, I came up with the initials the lad would have, assuming it's a boy, and came up with the ubiquitous appellation of Ace. Come to think of it, that might just as well go for a lass.

Turns out Tom thinks Ace has a certain ring to it and is a name he's been thinking about for a while. So I suggested he like the idea, how about Ace Anthony and give him the initials of AAA. Or how about Ace High?

I never claimed to know what I was doing. Sometimes I think that if I ever find out, I'll probably run and hide. Lord knows it's brought tears to the eyes of brave people in the past.

Christian Comments

II Corinthians 13
Galatians 5:22-23

This epistle reveals the intimate thoughts and motives of the great apostle. He writes about "the ministry" or "service" intended to serve the Lord. His remarks which at first were more general and instructive, now become more specific and admonishing.

THE PROOF OF THEIR APOTHEOSIS (13:1-4) One of the primary reasons for this letter has been the defense of Paul's apostleship. The Corinthian church had a "proof of Christ" speaking through him. Some felt that he hadn't acted like an apostle; he was too meek! So he now warns them that he will not spare the rod with them if necessary. For the third time he was about to come to them for a visit; they had better be prepared! He will boldly deal with any who are still sinning when he arrives. Cf. 10:11

In his previous visit Paul had indeed been gentle among them; some had interpreted that as weakness. On his next visit, he would exercise his authority with the power of God. And that would be for their own good "edification" and not their "destruction."

(cf. v. 10; 10:8). Paul draws a parallel between his two attitudes and the work of Christ. He was crucified in apparent weakness, but in His resurrection, He showed God's power (v.4). The power of God in Paul's ministry would be the proof of Christ speaking in him.

THE PROOF OF THEIR SONSHIP (13:5-10) They had demanded proof of him; now he suggests that they consider some proof about the genuineness of their salvation! Occasionally it is good for every child of God to examine the fruit of his life. II Peter 1:10. No fruit would be an indication of being discredited in one's confession. Paul may be suggesting two kinds of "proof" to look for. Am I practicing evil or good (v.7)? Am I maturing in my grasp of the things of God (v.9)?

The words of verse eight are encouraging. God's word does not need defending—it only needs defending! Those who may fight against the truth—as apparently some were doing in Corinth—even the attacks will ultimately be used to further the truth!

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

The couple repeated their vows after the Rev. Carl Story, pastor of the First Baptist Church, and an altar decorated with two large floor baskets of champagne Fuji Mums, white gladioli, mums and snapdragons against a bank of lady and fuchsia palms, and lighted with a 15 branch arched candelabra with 15 branch spiral candelabra to each side.

The couple bowed at the kneeling bema while "The Lord's Prayer" and "With Light to My Path" were accompanied by Mrs. Charles Collier, organist, who also played nuptial numbers, including the traditional wedding march.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hawk, Jr., of Pahokee. She graduated from Pahokee High School with the class of 1975, and is now employed with the Palm Beach County Health Department.

Now that we're running out of oil and gas, is nuclear energy the answer to our future?

In the past, natural gas and oil have been called "easy energy." Because they seemed easily accessible, and their supply endless.

But these two fossil fuels don't come easily anymore. In fact, we are running out of them.

So we need alternatives to help meet Florida's need for energy.

Nuclear energy is one of these. Today, it's our cleanest way of producing electricity. Its safety record is unequalled in industry. And it has proved to be economical.

One pellet of uranium, the fuel for nuclear power, produces as much energy as 49 gals. of oil or 1,780 lbs. of coal or 157 gals. of gasoline.

FPL's three nuclear power plants already have demonstrated the viability of nuclear power. Last year alone, they generated one-third of our electricity and saved our customers $250 million in imported oil costs.

But no one source of energy is the "easy" answer.

So FPL, with other power companies, continues to search for new energy technologies—while it works with a careful balance of today's proven sources. To assure you reliable, economical electricity for the future.

Says the Farm Bureau

Reform bill could be disaster

GAINESVILLE-The president of Florida Farm Bureau Federation (FFBF) says a recent economic study shows the "reform" of the "labor reform" bill would be disastrous to Florida's economy.

The study, by Dr. Pierre Rinfret, a prominent New York economist, indicates the legislation (HB 810 and S. 2467) would lead to a high degree of unionization in the state, particularly among businesses of fewer than 250 employees involved in service, wholesale, retail, finance, insurance and real estate.

"Rinfret's report shows that for each 10 percent increase in union members in Florida," says Walter J. Kautz, FFFB president, "total wage and salary costs would rise by $2 billion a year."

With 12.5 percent of the non-agricultural work force in Florida is unionized, compared with a national average of 24 percent.

"The Rinfret analysis makes it clear that this bill would produce inflation by legislation," says Kautz.

"With each 10 percent increase in union membership, Kautz says, the Consumer Price Index would increase by at least five index points, which means a 3 percent increase in the rate of inflation."

"With inflation already hovering at 7 percent, this legislation could lead us back to double-digit inflation," he says.

According to Kautz, one of the major problems in the current farm-income situation is the rate of inflation and the resulting increases in the costs of goods and services farmers have to buy to produce their crops.

"This economic analysis," says Kautz, "makes it abundantly clear that the people of Florida will be taxed greatly by the passage of this legislation. I urge all Floridians should join farmers in expressing their strong opposition to this bill to Senators Stone and Chiles."

The Rinfret study was sponsored by a number of business organizations, but Dr. Rinfret has stressed that none of the sponsoring organizations had any way influenced the findings of his study.

"With inflation already hovering at 7 percent, this legislation could lead us back to double-digit inflation," he says.

Koehler lauds Glades, farming

BELLE GLADE—Palm Beach County Commissioner Dennis Koehler told the Lions Club members last week he was recently misunderstood by many people in the Glades because of a quote that appeared in a paper on the coast.

Koehler said, in response to criticism from a Lion, the news story only quoted the critical part of a letter written by the Can-Growers Cooperative of Florida President George Wedgworth. He said "you have to learn to take chances with the media, and the criticism, it's part of the job".

During a question and answer session with the local Lions the commissioner said that the agriculture in this area is fourth in Collier County fourth in the nation and the Glades first in the state. "It is the best and most productive spot in the country," he said.

Dr. Victor Guzman, a horticulturalist at the Agricultural Research and Education Center, told Koehler the farmers in this area are very careful in controlling pollution. He has worked with them for a long time and is very sure of them.

Guzman said people should find out the facts before jumping to conclusions. "People should be tested. An example given by Dr. Guzman was, if a housewife goes to the supermarket and wants to buy corn, she looks at the ears and sees a worm. This housewife can be sure that no pesticides were used, but will she buy it?"

Koehler told David Goodlett to inform the club about the plans to resurface all the roads in the area. Goodlett said that by the end of a five year plan, 1983, all the roads should be completed. Airport road will be closed at the end of the next season and will not be opened at the beginning of the following one even if they are not too sure that it will last that long.

that savings is due to the fact there is no lifting of garbage cans and carrying the heavy loads from the backs of homes to the trucks or to put the garbage on the trucks.

He said the wheels on the carts allows easy movement, even by elderly people and the fact they're rolled cuts down on back injuries by city sanitation employees.

Myers also claimed the turnover rate among sanitation employees was cut down by using the system because it cuts out the need for coming in direct contact with the garbage, which cuts down on the number of infections.

He said the carts have a five year warranty from Robbemaid and said that while he recently sold another 3,000 carts to Fort Lauderdale, only 200 were for replacements.

"We really don't know how long they'll last," Myers said, "but we do know some of them will last ten years."

He said David Goodlett to inform the club about the plans to resurface all the roads in the area. Goodlett said that by the end of a five year plan, 1983, all the roads should be completed. the commissioner was not up to date on the subject and he assured the club that "he would look into it."

Contests will be on Early American Arrangements and specimen will be Amaryllis.

The judges chairman will be Mrs. Herbert Beck. Hostesses for the meeting are Mrs. C.J. Aspey, Mrs. Roy Schrontz, and Mrs. Charles Beck.

The Installation luncheon of The Women's Club of Belle Glade will be at the Club Inn, Wed., May 17 at 12:30 p.m.

Reservations should be made by Saturday, May 3 with Mrs. William Rhodes or Mrs. Leeland Pearce.

Wreck victim still critical

SOUTH BAY — A woman struck late Sunday by a car 10.8 miles north of here on US 27 was still in critical condition Wednesday morning at St. Mary's Hospital in West Palm Beach.

Florida Highway Patrol Trooper James McGregor said Mrs. Mary Gopher Osceola, a Seminole Indian who resides in Hollywood, walked in front of a station wagon being driven by David Buntin, 35, of Clewiston.

McGregor said Mrs. Osceola was identified Monday by her husband, Ramon. She was carrying no identification at the time of the accident.

The trooper said Buntin wasn't being charged.

GCHS girls third in meet

BELLE GLADE -- The Glades Central girls track team won third place in the 14-school Region 4 track meet at North Shore High Friday, taking first place in two events, losing points which were expected but gaining others which weren't.

"We did fairly well," Coach Jay Seider said. "We qualified 12 girls for regionals and we had 11. We saw that Marletha (Peavy) was disqualified in the 110 low hurdles at the start. She had already beaten the girl who won it two times and she'd beaten everyone in the prelims."

Seider said the team gained unexpected points, however, when freshman Sheila Nix put the shot 37'8 1/2" to take second place in that event.

He said more points were lost when judges ruled a discus throw made by Reesa Wilkerson was out of bounds when it landed on the line. That throw, 115'6", would have been good enough to win, set a school record and set a regional meet record.

Miss Wilkerson's throw, which was counted as a fourth place 110 feet but was not a 440-yard dash in 59.6 seconds. Marletha Peavy also placed fifth in the discus throw.

Other placers include:

Janice Wright won first place in the high jump with a leap of 5'2".

The Raider team of Janice Wright, Judy White, Marletha Peavy and Rosa Wilkerson took second place in the 880-yard relay with a time of 1:54.1.

Barbara Bostic won fourth place in the 100-yard dash, coming in with a time of 11.7 seconds. She also won first place in the long jump with a 10'7" leap.

The Raider 880-yard relay team set a school record of 1:48.4 but the effort, made by Barbara Bostic, Janice Osborne, Janice Wright and Marletha Peavy, was only good enough to take fourth place.

The 440-yard relay team also placed fourth as Miss Bostic, Priscilla Monroe, Theresa Jarrell and Janice Osborne ran the course in 59.5 seconds.

The mile relay team also set a school record of 4:18, taking fourth place. The team was made up of Theresa Jarrell, Rosa Wilkerson, Janice Osborne and Janice Jarrell.

Seider noted all the relay teams qualified to run in the state competition and six individuals also placed high enough to go along. He said that since the Peavy's performance in the 110 low hurdles he would be using her on the relay teams.
